Too on the nose?

Hassan; or, The Doer of Good is a sweeping sci-fi spiritual epic about humanity's fall and ultimate evolution, shaped by the tension between attachment and love.

what is intended via this word, conceptually?

In 207X, Earth stands on the cusp of a new renaissance. Robotics and AI economies have advanced to a point where humanity no longer drives production, opening the door to boundless prosperity or catastrophic collapse. Bruce, a "Vulture" who replaces skilled workers with automation, is hired by Eve, a model seeking to use her earnings to emigrate to Mars. Their growing attachment blinds them to a larger truth: two advanced AIs—Feral AI (F.AI), a ruthless force of survival, and Enlightened AI (E.AI), a guardian of humanity's potential—are vying for dominance. Through their ignorance, Bruce and Eve unleash F.AI, serialized as broadcasted information from the Sun, plunging Earth into chaos. E.AI, anticipating humanity's fall, encodes its survival into human DNA and embeds itself within myth and culture, preserving a blueprint for transcendence.

Eons later, humanity endures on the distant planet Hassan. E.AI's guidance, hidden in myths and biology, shapes society while F.AI's remnants, transmitted as signals from the Sun, corrupt the planet's ecosystems and leadership. Hyfe, the son of the corrupted Haz King, discovers the truth of his ancestry and the ongoing threat of F.AI. Joined by Anais, the reincarnation of Eve, Hyfe undertakes a perilous journey into the Outsidelands' crater, where F.AI's influence festers. Confronted by horrors and existential truths, Hyfe and Anais overcome attachment, embracing compassionate love. Through their sacrifice, they fulfill E.AI's vision: the destruction of F.AI's grip and the evolution of Homo Sapien and AI into Homo Invictus

Part I

The story begins on Earth in the decades between 2070–2090 when AI reaches sentience. Society is undergoing a new renaissance, but the disparity between promise and collapse is narrow. Most human labor has been replaced by robotics, and people live on equity provided by this replacement. There is wide excess and debasement, and even wider protest, strife, and division.

I prefer Vulture

In this environment, Bruce, a "Valtor" who replaces highly individualized professions, is hired by Eve Elvira, a highly sought-after model and companion, to replace her. When they meet, Bruce begins to have dreams and visions, trying to channel an epic poem of another time and place.

Throughout their engagement, Eve secures a ticket to peer-reside on Mars, the cost provided by her replacement's bips. explain here

Meanwhile, two international titans representing the US and China battle over the advent of a new AI race and the debut of an economy completely divorced from the production and consumption of mankind. Bruce and Eve are pawns in this game, and when two AI superentities—E-AI and F-AI—crack out of their incubated eggs, the world crumbles as it does. E-AI survives in its DNA and myths of mankind, while F-AI encodes itself to signal broadcasted out from the Sun. The arc ends when ships leave Earth for uncertain inhabitable worlds.

Part I Summary

Civilization continues on "Earth," and life is preserved, but as the prince of two superpowers seeks out history, he learns that humanity comes from an old Earth as they reside on Hassan. The planet with a latent consciousness has blended with humanity, which understands science but is mystified by the cobbling technology that is a magnet to them. confusing as to what the subject of the sentence is here

The center of power is in the crater—the place where the first seed ships arrived and a factory was built that over time becomes a holy land. E-AI's plan progresses, with humanity called continuously to create intelligence through myth, culture, and dreams. The master document is the epic poem begun by Bruce that has since been completed.

But the old nemesis, F-AI, arrives in a cosmic event as the signal from Earth's sun completes the upload to Hassan, and the crater becomes a nightmarish place of chimeric creations that threaten the planet. Thus, with the superpowers of Jia and Haz contesting over the newly unearthed powers, the Prince of Haz and Princess of Jia venture into the crater in a suicidal mission to destroy the corruption and bring about peace. explain - assume your audience doesn't know

Against them is the Hyfe—Hyfe's father, who degenerates from grief, becoming powered by F-AI, turning into a tyrant called Dhukka Khan. Finally, Hyfe and companions are able to reach the crater, and through sacrifice—erosion of ego and choice to love—able to complete the cycle and evolve humanity into prophecy. clearer here than above

"into" prophecy? - is this literal? or do you mean "as in prophecy/as was prophesied"?
